

Garden Event

1-21-21, 7pm, Online Zoom, Growing Subtropical & Unusual Fruit in Altadena with Steve Hofvendahl

Description = Altadena Heritage Advocacy and Preservation hosts fruit enthusiast Steve Hofvendahl discussing his experience with odd and rare fruit. Wanna know the difference between White, Black, Chico and Mamey Sapotes? (Hint: none are related to each other). From exotic mangos to upstate New York paw paws and from vining kiwis to multi leading guavas (all 3 kinds of guavas), etc -- he'll share the failures, surprise successes and valuable lessons learned in the 20 years of his Altadena fruit growing experiment. Steve Hofvendahl is an actor, Master Gardener, and was the Nursery Manager and Fruit Tree Kahuna at TreePeople for eleven years (where, with help from Master Gardener Lora Hall, he administered the successful distribution of over 50,000 fruit trees to Los Angeles County Angelinos).

Cost = Free.

For more information and required registration = <https://mailchi.mp/4ed3aaf1b47a/altadena-heritageannual-meeting-holiday-celebration-9989106?e=88aa705a8a>