The Bioregional GreenWorks needs-based scholarship program is expanding and we are currently seeking additional administration and operational assistance, including digital marketing, program coordination and partnership/sponsorship development. These are remote/work from home positions. We have both paid and membership pathway/cooperative ownership position openings. This scholarship assists motivated individuals in need who would not otherwise be able to secure additional nature-based learning opportunities due to financial hardships. This Sponsorship Coordinator position develops mutually beneficial partnerships with like-minded local businesses in the Los Angeles county area in order to increase the capacity of Bioregional GreenWorks to deliver more Earth Care and People Care projects. Some travel within Los Angeles county will be required.
