

Garden Event

6-22-23, 8am-5:30pm, In Person, Rooting Into Place - Teaching Native Plants In & Out of the Classroom, Los Angeles 90007

Description = Educator Summer Conference, “Rooting Into Place: Teaching Native Plants In & Out of the Classroom”, aims to inspire educators to view the outdoors as enriching teaching spaces and connect with native plants across classroom content areas. The Natural History Museum of Los Angeles, in partnership with the California Native Plant Society and Theodore Payne Foundation, will provide engaging learning opportunities for educators to build stewardship around the preservation of California native plants and the places they call home. This event is open to Pre-K–12 formal classroom educators and administrators, homeschool educators, and informal educators. Program highlights = Guided Garden Walk, Interactive Workshops, Free Resources, Networking Opportunities, Botanical-Inspired Happy Hour & Entertainment

Cost = $50-75

Location = Natural History Museum, 900 Exposition Blvd, Los Angeles 90007

For more information and to register = <https://nhm.org/educatorconference>