

Garden Event

7-10-22, 9:30-11am, In-Person, Water Conservation Workshop with Debby Dunn Figoni, Arlington Garden, Pasadena

Description = Southern California Horticultural Society hosts Debby Dunn, water conservation administrator for the City of Beverly Hills, leading this workshop. Learn how to use water responsibly while beautifying your landscape at the Arlington Gardens in Pasadena. Figoni will provide easy tips and techniques to reduce your water use, improve the health of your garden and better explain California's extreme drought. Come learn, laugh and then share your new knowledge with friends and neighbors. Figoni is an enthusiastic advocate for the environment, with an extreme passion for educating people to use water efficiently. In her work as the Water Conservation Administrator for the City of Beverly Hills, and in teaching water wise landscaping workshops for other municipalities, Debby has assisted over 12,000 residents and business owners to become more efficient water users. She is a Master Gardener and has created award winning landscapes that are attractive to people and wildlife. Debby brings her experience to audiences in a fun, easily relatable way, and empowers her students to use water wisely as they create and maintain their own landscapes.

Cost = Free for members, $5 for non-members.
